this edited volume deploys deleuzian thinking to re theorize fascism as a mutable problem in changing orders of power relations dependent on hitherto misunderstood social and political conditions of formation the book provides a theoretically distinct approach to the problem of fascism and its relations with liberalism and modernity in both historical and contemporary contexts it serves as a seminal intervention into the debate over the causes and consequences of contemporary wars and global political conflicts as well as functioning as an accessible guide to the theoretical utilities of deleuzian thought for international relations in a manner that is very much lacking in current debates about it covering a wide array of topics this volume will provide a set of original contributions focussed in particular upon the contemporary nature of war the increased priorities afforded to the security imperative the changing designs of bio political regimes fascist aesthetics nihilistic tendencies and the modernist logic of finitude the politics of suicide the specific desires upon which fascism draws and of course the recurring pursuit of power an important contribution to the field this work will be of great interest to students and scholars of international relations fascism and international relations theory this important text argues for a strong notion of structuration theory in contrast to the seminal but more abstract and relatively under developed project represented by anthony giddens's writings emphasis on the duality of structure is placed at the centre of the tradition it is argued that the distinctive power of structuration theory lies in its potential to critically investigate a specific range of in situ questions structuration theory produces a synthesis that draws on giddens's work on other versions of the structuration problematic and on key empirical uses of the approach the final chapters make use of extended case examples to illustrate the critical power of strong structuration
